PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Ann Basnight

It has been a long dry hot summer for all across our state. It has also been a busy one for me. In May a large group of NC genealogists attended the Conference of the States in Richmond, Virginia. It was a great week of networking with other genealogists and learning about new methods and techniques as well as brushing up on the old. NCGS sponsored a series of two lectures on North Carolina done by Mark Lowe. Mark did an excellent job promoting North Carolina. All of the NC people wore pins that said "ask me about North Carolina." We had great results in many ways.

The second week in June, I had the pleasure of attending the Institute of Genealogical and Historical Research held at Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama. I took a course on "Virginia; Her Laws and her Records." Since I believe most of my ancestors came out of Virginia this will help me learn about doing research there. I was pleased with all of the online sources we were given. It was a good experience.

Our Second Annual Speakers Forum was successful with ten speakers participating. It was a nice retreat from the summer heat, with lots of informative topics.

I recently attended a DNA Symposium sponsored by the Lost Colony Research Center. Since finding the English signet right at the sight of the Indian village at Buxton, there is a theory that the colonist may have joined the local Indians because blue eyed Indians were found in eastern North Carolina. The ring has been dated as being from the 1500's. This was found by a group of archaeology students from Eastern Carolina University. They have since located several sites of Indian villages and the deeds to this land were to some still local names. They are using technical research such as satellite imagery to find these sites, and hope to be doing more digging in hopes of finding more English relics.

NGS has been under going a lot of change this year. Our editors have both changed and we have gotten a little behind on getting our publications but will get this remedied as they get use to the schedule. We are also having a change in our website manager. This has become such a big job that we need a committee. If you have computer skills such as data entry or dealing with email, etc, we can use your help. Jordan Jones has agreed to help with the technical stuff but he will need help because this is a really big job. Skills as simple as data entry (typing) would be welcome. Please contact me if you can help.

We are looking forward to the annual meeting in Raleigh on November 2 & 3. Hope that you can come.

HAPPY VALLEY By Sandra Watts

As the new editor of the North Carolina Genealogy Society newsletter, and having attended numerous workshops offered by the Society, I have learned a great deal about the eastern part of the state. And I've learned a great deal about the importance of family papers. Letters and journals left to us by families who for whatever reason decided to write it all down in order for us to have a light into the past of how our ancestors lived. For that reason I would like to tell you about a place called Happy Valley which is located in the western part of North Carolina. Highway 268 running through Wilkes and Caldwell County is referred to as Happy Valley. This section of road also travels along a portion of the Over the Mountain Victory Trail.

A historic site known as Fort Defiance can be found in the Caldwell section of Happy Valley. Fort Defiance is not actually a stockade but is the restored 18th century home of William A. Lenoir for which the town of Lenoir is named. The house stayed in the family through seven generation. Restoration was completed in the 1970's with the help and guidance of the North Carolina Department of Archives and History..

William Lenoir was a surveyor by trade and married to Ann Ballard Lenoir. raised 9 children. He moved from Wilkesboro and built his house in Happy Valley completing it in 1792. At which time, was a part of Wilkes County not becoming a part of Caldwell County until 1841. He was not only a surveyor, but Clerk of Court. Justice of the Peace. Postmaster, served in both branches of the State Legislature, ran for Governor and was the first President of the Board of Trustees at UNC-Chapel Hill of which Lenoir Hall bears his name. He was a veteran of the revolutionary war having fought at the Battle of Kings Mountain and gaining the title of Major General afterwards.

It's amazing to me at how many journals and letters this family left behind. These papers are housed at the Wilson Library at UNC-Chapel Hill and a good portion of them are still in the position of the family. These journals and letters not only give an account of the Lenoir Family but also their neighbors.

It was while looking through these papers I was able to determine my great-great-great-grandfather. Had it not been for William Lenoir and his need to keep records I would still be scratching my head today. These papers are a wealth of information from the 18th century through the early part of the 20th century. To see a sample of these papers look at the UNC-Chapel Hill website.

So next time you go digging don't rule out the importance of family papers. You never know who you will find there.

The Fort is opened to the public and costumed guided tours are available. For more information on Fort Defiance, contact Executive Director, Becky Phillips at 828-758-1671 or visit their website at www.ftdefiance.og

Rhodes Room expands historic collection

NEWTON—Catawba County Library System has enhanced its genealogical and historical collection recently.

Alex Floyd, associate librarian for the Rhodes Room, reports that most of the new materials relate to North Carolina and the Southeast with emphasis on filling in gaps in the North Carolina border areas.

"The strategy is to make the collection as complete as possible and to respond to requests by our customers," he said. Special attention is paid to areas from which settlers came from or went to from Catawba County.

Among recent acquisitions are court minutes and records for Mecklenburg and Wilkes counties as well as for colonial Maryland.

Land records for Haywood County, NC, Wythe, Augusta and Rockingham counties in VA, Edgefield County, SC, and Mecklenburg County, NC are now in the collection.

Local researchers will appreciate two new books, A Pictorial History of Alexander County, and A Century Of Achievement: Startown School. Catawba County Divorce Records 1869-1927 is available on microfilm.

Ethnic-specific volumes include Eastern Cherokee Census 1923-1929,

African American Genealogy: A Bibliography and Guide to Sources and Scottish-German Links 1550-1850.

Floyd said that the historic map collection is growing too. Recently acquired are Catawba County Maps 1911-1946 and 1946-1954, as well as G. P. Stout maps for several North Carolina counties. These detailed Stout maps, prepared for historical research, provide information about historic sites, townships, and communities.

Serendipity provides some needed materials. Individuals and groups continue to provide books in memory or in honor of loved ones. Two recent examples include books donated by the Catawba County Genealogical Society in memory of Evelyn Rhodes and Dr. John Fletcher Andrews. Groups or individuals wishing to make donations should contact Floyd for suggestions.

Named for the late Evelyn Deal Rhodes, a local historian and long-time librarian, the Rhodes Room is a repository of historical materials relating to Catawba County, the state and region. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

POST YOUR LOCAL EVENTS WITH NCGS

Who doesn't like free publicity? If your genealogical society or family association is planning a special event, please contact us. We can print a concise announcement in the NCGS News and display it on the NCGS website calendar. Write to the NCGS News Editor at ncgsnewseditor@ncgenealogy.org or alternatively, to Calendar of Events, North Carolina Genealogical Society, P.O.Box 22, Greenville, . Just remember to get your announcement in early enough to make our deadlines.

Queries

Duncan: Who was the husband of Elizabeth Duncan shown on the 1830 Lincoln Co., NC? She is shown with 4 females and no males. Did she later marry into the Gladden family? I find her in 1840 census with older male children also. I am looking for mother of J.D.F. (Jehu Decatur Franklin Duncan). His father's name was Decatur and one brother was named Oliver. Will appreciate any help. Martha Jones, macamajon@aol.com.

Call for Papers" 3rd Annual Speaker's Forum

NCGS would like to invite speakers to submit lecture proposals for the Third Annual Speaker's Forum to be held in February or March 2008. The deadline for submission is 1 October 2007. Applicants should be members of NCGS. speakers may attend other workshop talks; however, they will not receive an honorarium.

Topic Suggestions:

- 1. Records, history, how-to methods specific to North Carolina.
- 2. General methodology topics
- Topics relating to surrounding states where North Carolinians lived before or after their time in North Carolina.

Each session will be limited to one hour. Speakers should plan to submit a handout of no more than four pages due one month before the workshop. This handout will be included in the conference syllabus distributed to conference participants.

Proposals should include the following information:

- Speaker's name, address, telephone number, and e-mail address.
- 2. Title of Lecture
- 3. Outline or abstract of lecture
- Short summary (2 or 3 sentences) which will be used for publicity brochure
- 5. Speaker biography (2 or 3 sentences)
- 6. Resume of previous lecture experience.

7.

For those persons whose proposals are selected, the Board of Directors has approved travel allowances based on the distance of the speaker's home from the lecture site. Lecturers traveling 50 to 100 miles will receive $10; 101 to 150 miles will receive $15; over 150 miles will receive $25. Ann Christnacht Hilke, CG

Friday, November 2

8:30 - 9:00	Registration
9:00 -10:00	Understanding the Lingo: A Tool for Solving Genealogical Problems [Moore] Understanding what words and terminology meant during the time when our ancestors lived can give important clues to their ages, relationships and more.
10:00 - 10:30	Break
10:30 - 11:45	The Jones Jinx: Tracing Common Surnames [Jones] This case study will explain how missing, erroneous, and altered records were overcome to identify the parents of an orphan named Jones. Attendees will learn research strategies that they can use to solve their own common-surname problems.
11:45 - 1:00	Lunch and Vendors
1:00 - 2:15	Hit the Dirt!: Placing Your Ancestors in Geographic Context [Haines] Discover ways to put your ancestors on the map and to explore that place once you do so.
2:15 - 2:45	Break
2:45 - 4:00	Five Proven Techniques for Finding Your Ancestor's European Origins [Jones] The session explains three major challenges in learning the origin of European ancestors. The presenter will recommend and provide examples of five kinds of searches that have led to success. Attendees will learn techniques for matching the identity of a North American Ancestor with names and identities found in European records.
	Saturday, November 3
7:30 - 8:00	Registration
8:00 - 9:00	North Carolina Tax Records [Haines] Learn how to use North Carolina's tax records effectively in your research.
9:00 - 9:30	Break
9:30 -10:45	How to Avoid Being Duped by the Internet [Jones] The Internet brings increasingly bountiful amounts of information to genealogists' desktops- some valid, some erroneous, and much of unknown accuracy. Attendees will learn practical strategies for discriminating between correct and misleading information. They also will learn how online genealogical information—even if its accuracy is unknown- can lead to valid conclusions about ancestors.
10:45 - 11:45	NCGS Annual Meeting
11:45 – 12:45	Lunch and Vendors
12:45 – 2:00	Organizing Evidence to Overcome Record Shortages [Jones] Genealogists often are frustrated by record shortages and surviving records that do not specify relationships. Using the analogy of assembling a jigsaw puzzle with many missing and damaged pieces, a case study will demonstrate six steps for overcoming record shortages that attendees can use to identify their ancestors successfully.
2:00 - 2:30	Break
2:30 – 3:45	Evidence Evaluation: Analysis, Correlation, and Compilation [Leary] No single document constitutes proof of any event, relationship, or situation. "Proof" is a conclusion based on correlation of all the evidence. Quality of data, not quantity of records, is the key.

NCGS STATEMENT CODE OF ETHICS

The North Carolina Genealogical Society encourages researchers to uphold high standards for their genealogical research, analysis, and publication. Care should be taken to document properly all information included in a genealogical work. Researchers should remember that the original document is the proper source for all information.

When the original cannot be found, careful analysis of secondary materials (including internet sites) should be fully explained and sources cited.

Given modern technology and the ease of accessing information on the Internet, researchers are encouraged to respect the privacy of all living individuals by not sharing personal information via electronic media. While the courts have not yet fully tested copyright issues involving the Internet, the same respect should be paid to information found on the Internet as is paid to information in printed works bearing notice of copyright. Under United States copyright law, an individual's intellectual output is projected whether or not it bears a copyright notice or symbol and regardless of the medium in which it appears.

NCGS encourages and expects its members to uphold high moral standards in their use of electronic media, in their research, and in their interaction with fellow genealogists and other persons. Ethical behavior by individuals will reflect well upon our organization, as well as the field of genealogy, generally
